THE OMNIUM WAY: A SECURITY PARTNER, NOT JUST A PROVIDER

At Omnium, security isn't just a service—it's a responsibility. That's why we don't simply offer protection; we build partnerships. Our partnership-before-profit philosophy means relationships, trust, and performance take priority over transactions.

This approach has earned Omnium the trust of Fortune 500 executives, multinational corporations, and high-net-worth families around the world. Because our reputation is built on more than the protection we provide—it's built on the confidence we inspire.

With three decades of experience and operational reach across six continents, Omnium delivers customized security solutions that safeguard people, assets, and reputations. Clients receive direct access to senior leadership, fast decision-making, and strategic guidance—all tailored to their unique risk profile.

Because security isn't transactional—it's relational. That's the Omnium way.

RISK MANAGEMENT: THE OMNIUM APPROACH TO SECURITY

At Omnium, everything begins with one question: What's the risk?

Security doesn't start with guards or gadgets—it starts with understanding what you're up against.

But risk isn't a snapshot; it's a filmstrip in motion, with characters and environments constantly evolving. Lose focus, and you lose the plot. That's why we don't just build adaptable programs—we stay engaged, continuously assessing risk and adjusting strategies to match what's real.

This risk-focused approach is why clients trust that their protection is grounded in reality—and always a step ahead.

EXECUTIVE PROTECTION: CONFIDENCE WITHOUT COMPROMISE

The role of a high-profile individual has never carried more weight—or more risk.

In an era of online radicalization and growing resentment toward wealth and influence, even low-profile individuals face increasingly targeted physical and digital threats.

Today's complex threat landscape demands a sophisticated approach to protection—one grounded in risk management, protective intelligence, and proven best practices, not theatrics. At Omnium, every program begins with a clear assessment of risk, lifestyle, and operational priorities, followed by a protection plan tailored to fit.

That's why, for over three decades, corporate leaders, high-net-worth families, and public figures have trusted Omnium to protect their safety, privacy, and peace of mind. Backed by our Global Security Operations Center, Omnium delivers protection wherever your world takes you.

SECURE TRANSPORTATION: PROTECTION IN MOTION

For over three decades, Omnium has provided secure transportation to corporate leaders, public figures, high-net-worth families, and others who can't afford to take chances on the road.

With motor vehicle accidents a leading cause of death, even routine travel carries risk. And accidents aren't the only concern—64% of attacks on principals occur in or around the vehicle, and 77% of those attacks succeed. That's why secure transportation isn't just a convenience; it's a critical safety measure.

At Omnium, our security drivers receive advanced training in evasive driving, accident avoidance, and threat response. Every route, stop, and exit is considered—because in secure transportation, nothing is routine.

WORKPLACE VIOLENCE: TURNING POLICY INTO PREVENTION

Workplace violence is the outcome—not the starting point. Prevention begins with recognizing the patterns and behaviors that escalate to violence before they become tragedies.

At Omnium, we help organizations build prevention strategies that begin long before a hostile termination or crisis response.

It starts with a framework that fosters a culture of safety—one built around your most important asset: people. Omnium helps you develop that framework by training staff to recognize warning signs, establishing clear reporting channels, and preparing leadership to take early, effective action.

A policy alone doesn't stop violence. A culture of safety—and people who know what to look for—do. That's why we help organizations move from workplace violence policy to prevention.

EVENT SECURITY: UNEVENTFUL FOR ALL THE RIGHT REASONS

At Omnium, we secure shareholder meetings, leadership summits, product launches, and media appearances with a proactive approach rooted in protective intelligence. We anticipate risks, assess the local threat landscape, and implement layered strategies—well before the first guest arrives.

Whether domestic or international, we operate behind the scenes to ensure your event unfolds exactly as planned—memorable for all the right reasons, and uneventful for all the rest.

Throughout the venue, we manage access points, verify credentials, and monitor for surveillance or behavioral anomalies—ensuring only the right people gain entry, and nothing gets overlooked. And because no security plan is complete without contingencies, we prepare for medical emergencies, disruptive incidents, and rapid evacuations—so your team never has to.

Because your event should be defined by outcomes—not incidents.

SECURING SCHOOLS AND PLACES OF WORSHIP: PROTECTION WITH PURPOSE

Schools, churches, temples, and other places of worship were once considered sanctuaries. Today, they are increasingly targeted by individuals seeking to harm and disrupt communities. In a threat landscape shaped by targeted violence, a reactive approach is not just inadequate—it's negligent.

Securing spaces built for connection, learning, and peace requires more than locks and alarms. It demands thoughtful, layered strategies rooted in prevention, early intervention, and rapid response—without turning sanctuaries into fortresses.

From assessment to action, we help institutions build security programs that identify warning signs, manage threats, and respond with confidence. Our services include site assessments, threat team development, staff training, and customized emergency protocols—designed to support welcoming environments while preparing for the unthinkable.

Because the spaces built to welcome us should never leave us exposed.

RESIDENTIAL SECURITY ASSESSMENTS: PROTECTING WHERE IT MATTERS MOST

For C-suite executives and high-net-worth individuals, residential security often receives less scrutiny than workplace or travel protection. But familiar routines, predictable patterns, and lightly protected properties create vulnerabilities that adversaries are all too ready to exploit.

At Omnium, the same risk management approach we use to safeguard corporate assets is brought home—literally.

For more than two decades, we've assessed and helped secure primary residences, vacation homes, and estates for clients whose families can't afford exposure.

Because security isn't just about the office or the road. It's also about what surrounds you—and the people you care about—at home.

TECHNICAL SECURITY COUNTERMEASURES (TSCM): WHEN PRIVACY IS NON-NEGOTIABLE

Some threats are planted under tables, hidden in vents, or embedded in compromised devices—silently capturing what was meant to stay private.

At Omnium, we help organizations protect their conversations, strategies, and intellectual property. For more than two decades, our specialists have delivered Technical Surveillance Countermeasures (TSCM) services to clients who can't afford to be overheard.

Whether it's a boardroom, hotel suite, investor meeting, or private residence, we sweep, detect, and neutralize unauthorized surveillance threats—before they become breaches.

A single undetected device can compromise negotiations, expose strategy, violate privacy, or even move markets. That's why Omnium doesn't just protect conversations—we protect what others are trying to steal.

Because your event should be defined by outcomes—not incidents.

EXPLOSIVES DETECTION K9 TEAMS: PRESENCE THAT PROTECTS

At Omnium, our Explosives Detection K9 Teams pair highly trained working dogs with experienced law enforcement handlers to conduct thorough searches across critical areas—including building exteriors, parking facilities, offices, vehicles, packages, and individuals.

But detection is only part of the value.

Their visible presence acts as a powerful deterrent—shaping behavior, discouraging malicious intent, and sending a clear message: this is not a soft target.

Whether supporting an event, securing a corporate site, or responding to a specific threat, our K9 teams provide confidence and a visible layer of protection.

It's not just what they find—it's what they prevent.

INDEPENDENT SECURITY RISK ASSESSMENTS: BECAUSE ASSUMPTIONS AREN'T SECURITY

Corporate offices are a significant source of risk and potential loss.

Yet even the best security programs become outdated. What made sense yesterday may no longer align with today's risks—or tomorrow's.

At Omnium, we bring an independent perspective—and a 30,000-foot view that spots what others overlook. Guided by ISO and ASIS global standards and backed by decades of real-world experience, our assessments deliver actionable insights that align your operations with both risk and best practices.

High-performing security leaders understand a simple truth: a program that hasn't been independently reviewed isn't verified—it's assumed. And when threats meet assumptions, liability and loss follow.

Omnium helps organizations validate what's working and uncover what isn't—before vulnerabilities are exploited.

EXECUTIVE PROTECTION PROGRAM AUDITS: ALIGNING RISK, RESOURCES, AND REALITY

Risks evolve. Priorities shift. And over time, even well-structured executive protection programs can fall out of alignment with real-world threats, operational demands, or current best practices.

At Omnium, we assess your existing posture with a critical lens—asking whether your strategies remain proportionate, your protocols effective, and your resources focused where they matter most. Our audits reveal what’s missing, what’s working, and what needs to change.

We evaluate risk alignment, personnel readiness, policy, and cost-effectiveness. We review emergency response plans and test your readiness through simulated adversarial actions—controlled breaches designed to expose vulnerabilities before they’re exploited.

Because confidence in your program should come from evidence—not assumption.

IRS-COMPLIANT SECURITY STUDIES: DOCUMENTED & DEFENSIBLE

Executive protection may reduce personal risk for key personnel—but if improperly structured, it can expose both the organization and its executives to tax liability. Under IRS regulations, certain security services may be classified as taxable fringe benefits if not supported by a documented, risk-based justification.

Omnium conducts independent security studies that provide objective, third-party validation of your program's necessity, structure, and scope. Each study is conducted in accordance with IRS guidance and ASIS standards, led by experienced security professionals and reviewed by CPAs specializing in executive compensation and tax code compliance.

We also assist in drafting or refining your Corporate Executive Security Policy, ensuring clear articulation of eligibility, operational scope, and risk-based justification—aligned with governance, audit, and IRS substantiation requirements.

Upon completion, Omnium delivers a CPA-approved report suitable for board review, external audit, or regulatory inquiry.

BEHAVIORAL THREAT ASSESSMENT UNIT: INTERVENTION BEFORE IMPACT

Sometimes, the most catastrophic risk to your organization doesn't look like a risk at all. It starts subtly—a poorly managed incident, a disgruntled employee, or a threat from an angry customer.

In real time, these situations may not present as potential tragedies. So, they're missed. They go unmanaged. And over time, they can persist—and escalate—until the unthinkable happens.

That's why Omnium established a dedicated Behavioral Threat Assessment Unit (BTAM). Our team works alongside our clients to evaluate incidents, identify potential threats, and guide an appropriate, measured response—before harm occurs. Whether it's a stranger taking unauthorized photos on school property or a problematic employee displaying warning signs, we provide expert guidance to manage risk with clarity and confidence.

“Many in society fail to recognize there are individuals capable of committing terrible acts of violence.

You should not assume that others are incapable of evil merely because you are not.”
